THE BREWER BRIDGE which has been undergoing repairs has never been in a more substantial condition than now, and in driving over it on the jarring motion given it by teams The span on the Brewer side which is 217 feet long, had sagged considerably, and the joints where the timbers were connected had begun to spread somewhat, when the repairer Mr David Smith began with planks drawn by F H Coombs, Engineer, to remedy these defects A staging of heavy timbers was put up under the span, and with jack screws the "sagging" was counteracted, the span being raised nine inches, all the iron rods seen in riding through the bridge were screwed up, heavy washers being placed under the nuts, and the joints were brought together by heavy bolts, which may be seen from the wharf under the bridge, the braces and counter braces brought to bear properly, and the span made as good if not better than when originally put in The other spans were raised about seven inches and thoroughly overhauled It is intended to put in a new draw, and when the work is completed the Brewer Bridge which certainly needed the repairs, will be in as good shape as a bridge need be

The Democrats of Penobscot County held their County Convention in City Hall yesterday. Greenback Meeting

Agreeably to the call published in the papers of the friends of the new organization known as the Greenback Party to meet at the City Hall to listen to and address by the Hon Alonzo Gage of New York about two hundred persons assembled there last evening to hear what the speaker had to say upon the subject

Some few appeared to swell the number of those who sympathy with the New Party movement was small but of those present being apparently present merely from curiosity And their curiosity must have been fully gratified for of all the curious exhibitions we have ever attended this was the most so We undertook to take notes of the speaker's remarks and to give a full and fair report of what are the objects and aims of the new organization but so entirely disconnected and incoherent were the utterances of the speaker that it would have been as much of an impossibility to give any connected and intelligible report of his performance in order to show the direction of the wind in a whirlwind when it blows from all points is the common report

At eight o'clock the speaker entered The Hall accompanied by Geo W Judd Esq who called the meeting to order and without entering upon any preliminary remarks introduced the speaker.

Mr Gage commenced by saying that he had come before the citizens of Bangor to speak to them upon the greatest question before the American people and to discuss affirmatively a policy which he said would relieve the country from its present condition of paralysis and financial distress. He asked if there was a Greenbacker? And after replying by saying that a Republican was one who believed in the platform of the Republican party and that when over two one who followed the leaders of the Democratic party he said that a Greenbacker was a man who believed in the policy of the greenback or independent party. He then went on and we tried to follow him and learn what was the policy of the greenback or independent party but so utterly rambling and disjointed was his speech, and so entirely disconnected and pointless were his sentences that we came away no wiser than we went Commencing upon one subject he would run off into another and from that to still another until no man in his audience could for the life of him tell when he had finished his sentence what he was driving at or what he set out to illustrate

The burden of his speech seemed to be—as was seemed for their was nothing clear and tangible it—to denounce the government for retrenchment and contraction after the war issues of currency to denounce the National Banks and to make his hearers believe that Savings Banks were the most unsafe receptacles for their earnings in the world The speaker was attentively listened to, but few leaving the Hall before the close, and as one gentleman passed out just before the close his neighbor said to him, "hold on a little, he'll make a point by and by." But he didn't

We have no doubt the greenback party have speakers who can make a plausible argument upon their side of the question but such an one is not the Rev Almon Gage of New York, who is simply a ranting, incoherent and illogical demagogue whose only aim seems to be to array labor against capital, while at the same time he is continually urging that such is not his purpose As an enlightened and instructive missionary he is a most lamentable failure

At the close of the "address", and as the audience were passing out of the hall Dr Jordan (D) arose and moved that the thanks of the audience be presented to the speaker for his able and instructive speech and that the vote be taken by rising! It is needless to say that the vote was unanimous,
